Product Description:

The surgical lights for Berchtold Chromophare F 528 and F 628 are intended to illuminate locally the operating site on the patient's body with a high intensity, shadow free, "cold" light. The major components of system are the ceiling down tube, a swivel arm support and the light head.

Reason for the Voluntary Recall:

Stryker has become aware that there is a remote likelihood that the Berchtold Chromophare F 528 and F 628 Light Head Cover (Manufactured from September 21st, 2017 to November 13th, 2018) may have an insufficiently assembled component on the back cover. If this component on the Chromophare Light Head Cover disengages, it could potentially fall off the light and cause temporary or reversible injury to HealthCare Providers and/or patients. To date, there have been no adverse events reported for this issue.

Risk to Health:

If this component on the Chromophare Light Head Cover disengages, it could potentially fall off the light and cause temporary or reversible injury to HealthCare Providers and/or patients. To date, there have been no adverse events reported for this issue.
