Customer Information: Customer Name Address

Dear [Name],

Urgent: Voluntary Recall of Recently Serviced Hearing Aids Field Safety Notice- ID#MS0028308 v1

The safety and comfort of users is always our highest priority. We know that the safety and comfort of your customers is also yours.

This is to inform you of a voluntary product recall involving:

- Selected Behind-the-Ear hearing aids serviced by GN Hearing between August 14 and September 5, 2019 (see attached "Acknowledgement and Return Response Form" for a complete list of affected serial numbers)
- Selected In-the-Ear hearing aids serviced by GN Hearing between August 14 and September 5, 2019 (see attached "Acknowledgement and Return Response Form" for a complete list of affected serial numbers)

What is the Problem and Who is at Risk? GN Hearing received reports from our manufacturing site in US regarding a software bug in our service & repair tool which affected the capture and restoration of user data in a limited number of repaired hearing aids. The software bug caused these repaired hearing aids to contain altered specifications for sound amplification, potentially putting users' residual hearing at risk of experiencing unintended additional available gain to varying degrees i.a.18dB flat linear gain or potentially in worst case Full On Gain. However, no injuries have been reported.

GN Hearing determined 2193 affected devices and is immediately initiating a removal of affected Behind-the-Ear (BTE) and In-the-Ear hearing aids, which were serviced between August 14 and September 5, 2019.

Our Service & Repair process has been updated to correct the software bug. GN Hearing wants to remove and repair all affected hearing aids and solve the issue in the fastest way possible. Therefore, we ask you to immediately do the following:

How to Identify the Affected Hearing Aids? We have identified all the affected hearing aids by serial number on the attached "Acknowledgment and Return Response" form.

Action to be taken by the customer/user
