2 Reason for Field Safety Corrective Action (FSCA)
2	1. Description of the product problem* Mölnlycke has recently been informed by the legal manufacturer SOL-M™ that they are performing a voluntary recall on components Blunt Fill Needle sterile, which Mölnlycke includes in some of the Mölnlycke® Procedure trays. The reason for this recall is that SOL-M has determined an increase in coring of the vial rubber stoppers of medication when reconstituting diluent and accessing vials. Once the medication is reconstituted, visible pieces of rubber were found floating in the medication, in the barrel of the syringe used to aspirate the medication, and in the IV bag used to administer the medication. No patient harm has been reported. Mölnlycke has decided to follow the legal manufacturer FSN and perform a Field Safety Corrective Action. At the point of use of these Mölnlycke® Procedure trays, the user is required to identify the affected component and discard it.

2	2. Hazard giving rise to the FSCA*
.	Information from SOL-M FSN: Wherever a blunt fill needle is used to aspirate a medication from a vial with a rubber stopper there is the risk of abrasion, tearing, and cutting of the rubber during the passing of the needle through the rubber stopper. This can result in rubber particles entering the medication vial or being retained in the needle or cannula during events known as fragmentation/coring. During insertion, the needle bevel heel can also scoop out large fragments from the stopper. For a rubber particle present in the injection fluid to be injected into the human body, it has to be smaller than the inner diameter of the needle/catheter used for injection. The risk is mitigated by the end-user during the medication preparation procedure. It is an obligatory standard for the end-user to check each medication that is withdrawn into the syringe for the presence of discoloration or foreign particles before the medication is administrated into the patient body. In case the medication contains any visible particles, the vial or the syringe must be discarded and cannot be used for the patient.

3. Type of Action to mitigate the risk
