Urgent Field Safety Notice

Tri-Staple™ 2.0 Black Intelligent Reload - Model SIG60AXT

Recall

January 2023

Medtronic Reference: FA1309
EU Manufacturer Single Registration Number (SRN): US-MF-000028763

Dear Risk Manager/Healthcare Professional:

The purpose of this letter is to advise you that Medtronic is recalling specific lots of Tri-Staple™ 2.0 Black Intelligent Reload, model SIG60AXT.

Issue Description:

Specific lots of Tri-Staple™ 2.0 Black Intelligent Reload have the potential for a broken sled vane component. A broken sled vane may cause the staple to misfire leading to non-functional staple line closure, transecting tissue without forming staples, and tissue hang-up. These hazards are associated to a delay to treatment, unspecified infection, hemorrhage/blood loss/bleeding, failure to anastomose, peritonitis, sepsis, pneumothorax, tissue trauma, and death.

Through 9 January 2023, Medtronic has received one complaint related to this issue. Included with this complaint is the report of one serious injury which included a delay in treatment and tissue trauma. No deaths have been reported.

There are no additional actions required for patients where a stapler in scope of this recall was used during a procedure. These patients should continue to be monitored in accordance with your medical facility's standard care protocols.
