Dear Healthcare Professional:

On September XX, Olympus informed you about the situation described below regarding certain lots of our THUNDERBEAT models listed above. Subsequent to that Olympus has become aware of additional lots from the same production period that should be included in the recall. We are issuing this updated information to you as our records indicate that your facility has purchased one or more of the affected lots that were not previously submitted for your attention.

The THUNDERBEAT Type S hand instruments are indicated for open, laparoscopic (including single-site surgery) general surgery and gynecological surgery (including urologic, thoracic, plastic and reconstructive, bowel resections, cholecystectomies, Nissen fundoplication, adhesiolysis, oophorectomy, hysterectomies (both vaginal assisted and abdominal) etc.) and endoscopic surgery or in any procedure in which cutting, vessel ligation (sealing and cutting), coagulation, grasping, and dissection is performed. These devices have been designed to seal and cut vessels (up to and including 7 mm in diameter), tissue bundles, and lymphatics.

Olympus is taking this recall action after discovering that the Thunderbeat's blue seal button may remain in the engaged position after the button is released and not immediately return to a neutral position. Olympus is requesting healthcare facilities return the model and lot numbers subject to this recall.

The blue seal button activates the Thunderbeat's seal function for tissue and vessel sealing but does not activate a cutting function. This issue has only been observed on the Blue Seal button when it is activated from the right side and NOT when activated via the center or left side. In addition, this is limited to the Blue Seal button and not the Purple Seal & Cut button. Both buttons are designed to be momentary contact switches that are only active when depressed.

Risk to Patient Health:

The potential risk associated with a sticky Thunderbeat seal button is continued activation of bipolar energy beyond the intended stop point, which in rare occasions may cause unintended tissue burns. Additionally, potential procedure delay could occur should the clinician choose to replace the Thunderbeat device.

Action steps to be taken by the end user:

Our records indicate that your facility has purchased one or more Thunderbeat devices. Olympus requests you to take the following actions:

- 1. Carefully read the content of this Field Safety Notice (FSN).
- 2. Ensure all personnel are completely knowledgeable and thoroughly trained on the content of this FSN
- 3. Inspect your inventory and identify any Thunderbeat models and lots subject to this action. Please refer to the Attachment 1 for the identification of the affected lots.
